Subject: Wolf Railing Kit of Parts

Doug,

Following up on the railing request(s). I am attempting to put all the info in one email for more general distribution. So, most of this you already know having gone through the process. Hoping you can take a look at the info below and see if you would add anything based on your experience.

Thanks,
Dave

Below you will find information the porch railing system to be used for porch railing additions at Summer Reach including the distributors and a list of components with part numbers. The installer would typically be responsible for placing the order based on exactly what railings are requested. The biggest choice would be adding a hand rail on the stairs.

Wolf Home Products is the manufacturer of the rails. They are more of a wholesale product than a retail product but the manufacturer recommended the following local distributors..

Beacon in West Bridgewater is probably one of the closer locations. They stock wolf rail. Ask for Peter or Gary.
